LexisNexis Butterworths Online
UK Journals

With over a third more sources than its nearest competitor, the LexisNexis UK Journals menu is a must for the legal practitioner

This menu provides access to a comprehensive collection of journals that contain up-to-date, in-depth information along with expert analysis and commentary. It’s a straightforward way to make sure you have the tools and sources you need to keep you in the know.

LexisNexis Butterworths offers the following key publications:

The New Law Journal
With an archive back to the 1980’s essential weekly reference features a mix of expert analysis, commentary and key news on the latest legal developments in case law, legislation, practice and procedure.

- Includes independent, in-depth articles on what is happening in every area of the law, together with essential advice on how to avoid pitfalls.
- Winner of The British & Irish Association of Law Librarians (BIALL) Legal Serial Publication of the Year Award 2006.

Family Law Journal
Since publication of the first issue in 1971, Family Law has firmly established itself as one of the UK’s leading practitioner journals for family law professionals. It ensures that everyone working in family law can keep up with the latest developments and their impact upon practice.

- Explanation, analysis and clarification of important legal changes. The journal’s expert contributors have previously considered the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973, the Children Act 1989, the Child Support Act 1991, the national ancillary relief scheme and the impact of cases such as White v White.
- Each issue is written and compiled by experts for the practising family law professional, offering the latest news, invaluable articles and authoritative case reports.
- Regular features include book reviews, letters, updates on family law in Scotland, Eire and Northern Ireland, a regular column on mediation and a diary of events.

Law Society’s Gazette
The Law Society’s Gazette provides comprehensive coverage of all areas of the law at home and abroad. From the high street to City boardrooms, the Law Society’s Gazette reports and analyses all the issues affecting lawyers.

- Features all the articles, letters, announcements and reviews on British law and practice included in the Law Society’s Gazette.
